

A BREAK FOR LIBERTY

City Prisoners Attempt to Make Their Escape.

STOPPED BY THE POLICE.

FRANK HOWARD SENTENCED TO SIX MONTHS' IMPRISONMENT.

Cases of the Men Arrested at the Rio Grande Western Depot Last Week—Thompson Now Charged With Grand Larceny—A Collector Arrested—Minor Cases.

Acting upon a straight tip given them by a short time inmate of the city jail, Chief Pratt, Captain Donovan and several other members of the police department prevented a wholesale jail delivery, although they allowed the freedom loving prisoners to cut out of one of the second story windows before the trap was sprung. As a result of the discovery and subsequent lengthy watch, James Dorin, alias "Frisco Blacky," the alleged burglar and general crook, will be tried on an additional charge of breaking jail.

Early Sunday morning the officers received the information that some of the prisoners had obtained possession of saws and were cutting out of the southwest window of the city jail. Dorin and one other had been confined on the ground floor of the jail, but board floors offered no resistance to their efforts, and the worthies were seen in the hallway above, having cut through the wood near the stove. Dorin had been carried into the jail in prisoners' sleeves and with these the work of getting out commenced. When Chief Pratt, Captain Donovan, Detective Sheets, and Officers Ferguson and McDonald inaugurated their watch at 10 o'clock Sunday night, the intention being to allow the prisoners to cut out in order that they might be identified, three of the iron bars had been removed, and the men were at work on the steel netting over the window. They worked hard and the officers waited. It was nearly 1 o'clock yesterday morning when the prisoners gave up the attempt to cut through the wire, and using the bars as levers they worked the screen from out of place and the outlet was cleared. The officers saw a blanket rope thrown out and then down it came. Dorin, the ringleader, with a muffled admonition to the others at the window, "Hurry or it will be daylight," "Frisco" placed his hands on the board fence south of the drive and was just in the act of jumping over, when Captain Donovan, who had been standing on the south side of the fence, placed the muzzle of his revolver in the escaping man's face and demanded that he throw up his hands. Dorin was pretty thoroughly frightened and at once came up. The other prisoners had retired to their cells as soon as the officers made a movement.

An investigation revealed the fact that the men had first endeavored to get out through the roof from the corridor. They encountered the heavy roof timbers, however, and then turned their attention to the window.

BEFORE JUSTICE SMITH.

The Heaviest Sentence Yet Imposed By His Honor.

Justice Smith yesterday imposed his heaviest sentence, giving Frank Howard, the young man in whose possession was found a full set of burglars tools, six months in the city jail.

Howard was arraigned at the morning session of the court and at once entered a plea of guilty. In response to an inquiry from the court, the fellow said he had no excuse to offer. The sentence of the court was six months in the jail.

The entire afternoon session of the court was occupied in the investigation of the charges against John Palmer and Charles Roberts. These are the men arrested at the Rio Grande Western depot by Chief Pratt and Captain Donovan on Friday night for being implicated in the disturbance which nearly ended in a riot. The charge is disturbing the peace. When the hour for adjournment arrived, the proceedings had only finished and the case went over until Wednesday morning.

When the case was called the court room was well filled with people, railroad employees, pedestrians, and the great deal of interest was taken in the proceedings. The evidence was to the effect that on Friday evening the threatening attitude of a rapidly growing crowd of "week-enders" made it necessary for reinforcements from the city hall. The special officers in the railroad yards were being entirely over-run by the mob in its endeavor to persuade the engineer and other trainmen on the train about pulling out to escape. The language used was most threatening and abusive and the railroad people telephoned for additional police. Sergeant Bainger and Officers Davis and Hemmel were detailed for the work, but even they were unable to keep the disturbers down. Another telephone message summoned Chief Pratt, Captain Donovan and Officer Burbridge. Upon the arrival at the depot of the second posse an order was issued for the crowd to move back from the crossing. The officers attempted to carry out the order and the men reluctantly backed away from the property of the railroad. Palmer threatened to strike, four feet from the line and called out "I would like to see the man who can move me from here, G—d—him." This was immediately followed by his arrest at the hands of Captain Donovan. A few minutes later Special Officer Talbot urged Roberts to move back by placing his hand on the man's shoulder. Roberts not only refused to move but used an oath in his refusal. He was also arrested.

At the conclusion of the taking of testimony for the prosecution the attorneys for the defense moved for a dismissal on the ground that their clients had not been connected with any crime. The motion was overruled and the case was continued until Wednesday morning.

The charge of embezzlement which stood opposite the name of G. P. Thompson on the police court records, has been charged to one of grand larceny. The arraignment will take place this morning. Thompson is said to have rolled John Curley, the contractor, for $400. Three other charges, represented by a check, from one of Winters' patrons, and instead of turning in the money, he endorsed the paper and obtained the cash from the bank. Lucas will be arraigned on Wednesday.

Three prostitutes, among them Nellie Ogden, left $8.50 each for the usual offense.

One drunk was assessed $10.

Charged With Embezzlement. William Lucas, collector for Alexander Winters, a West Second South street butcher, was arrested yesterday morning on the charge of embezzlement. He is said to have collected $3, represented by a check, from one of Winters' patrons, and instead of turning in the money, he endorsed the paper and obtained the cash from the bank. Lucas will be arraigned on Wednesday.

Wednesday morning in the police court.

Will Be Arraigned Today.

This afternoon at 2 o'clock the preliminary examination of W. A. Hobbs, at whose hands Thornton the soldier, met his death, will take place in the police court. Hobbs is still at the county jail in default of bonds.

Stole Some Laundry.

James McMann, a deserter from the Kelly division of the industrial army, and Fred Smith, were arrested yesterday afternoon for petty larceny. They stole a bundle of laundry from the White house.

Arrested Gambling Housekeeper. Chin Chin, the keeper of a Plunk alley gambling resort, was arrested last evening by Detective Paul, for maintaining a gambling house. He put up $20 for his appearance.

OUR GOVERNOR.

A Whisper That One of Capid's Darts Has Hit Him.

Is it possible that Governor West has other than public and political duties in Washington? The last issue of the Capital, the society paper of the capital, has the following to say regarding his visit:

The corridors of the Riggs house have been illuminated during the past few days by the genial smile of Hon.aleb W. West, governor of Utah. Mr. West once lived in Kentucky; and it is said that the reason, the prevailing reason, I mean, why he was appointed governor of Utah was that he saved Secretary Carlisle's boy from drowning on one occasion. If this boy was Logan Carlisle, Mr. West surely committed a great public service, and he deserves something even better than the governorship of Utah. It is rumored that Mr. West is here to manage, and manage delicately, certain federal affairs, but I throw not or at least I throw that is only partly the reason why Governor West's genial countenance illuminates the corridors of the Riggs house. The surprise among society people is that the governor is in love, and that he has come all the way from Salt Lake city to cool his ardor in this 97 degrees weather. Whether this suspicion is true or not, I think it ought to be. For Governor West is a bachelor and he ought to have known better all these years than to have remained single so long. If it should turn out that he is not here at all for the purpose of calling upon the lady, I shall not think much of Governor West as formerly.

Democrats from all parts of Utah will have a grand reunion at Salt Lake Beach, Saturday, July 14, under the auspices of the Democratic Society of Utah. Rates on the railroads.

HOME INDUSTRY DAY.

It Will Be Celebrated at Salt Lake On Thursday.

The ladies of the Home Industry association expect to see at Salt Lake on Thursday all the school girls who won the medals in the recent contest for the best essays on the home industry question after the visit to the industrial fair. The essays which were submitted in that competition were excellent and many of them would do credit to much older people than the school girls and boys of the city.

Among the sentiments expressed in those essays and the reasons advanced in favor of supporting home industries were the following:

FROM ELLA COTTLE: "Is the activity all to be stopped in this day of depression?"

"It is for us to decide whether or not this grand territory shall or shall not take its first rank."

"It is a well known fact that it not only needs capital to develop home industry, but it also needs the sympathy of the people."

"Home industry is to utilize the raw materials, give employment to a great number of unemployed, and to keep the money at home now sent away in articles which can be made as well here, thereby making us a prosperous and independent commonwealth."

FROM ALTHEA MORETON.

"This exhibition is to show that we could get along with what we have at home. If Utah had encouraged home industry at a previous time, years ago and up to the present time, her people would have been in a prosperous condition, and if she expects to grow to be a large and prosperous country, she must be more self-supporting by keeping more money at home and by giving her people employment."

FROM CLAUDIA SCHMIERER.

"Utah is on the rough and thorny road to fame if her people will not lose courage. We will fight a battle over our shops and every article we use for the support of home industry."

FROM IDA BREYER.

"There is no doubt that a large number of the losses sustained in the past winter can be accounted for in this way."

"Many of our people have been shunning home-made goods and sending their money over to east."

FROM ROBERT YOUNGBLOOD.

"What does home industry mean? It means this: Let us depend on ourselves and on our own products and resources to supply our necessities, comforts and luxuries."

FROM WINFRED HARDY.

"We ought to support home industries to keep the money in our territory, to keep our own people employed, and to keep the factories running and be independent."

FROM HELENA FORSBERG.

"Most of the necessities can be cultivated and manufactured within the territory. If we the people lack industry we shall become a bankrupt territory."

"Men must live and to live they must work."

"May this work in Utah result in her independence. When admitted as a state may she be a state of independence. Whatever the schemes of today may do the future is ours. Let the people look to it."

The Ladies' Home Industry association excursion on Thursday will be a success. Great interest is being taken in the programme now being arranged. Manufacturers are donating handsome prizes. The musical exercises will be fine. A good crowd is assured. Many of the leading stores and factories will be closed to enable employees to attend. The bicycle drill will be beautiful. Daily rehearsals now being held to perfect the members.

The Denhalters will be there in all their glory. Many new features will be added to lend interest to the exercises. The day will be an enjoyable one and everyone in attendance will realize that they are contributing to the success of a most worthy cause.

The proposed sewing room will this coming winter be one of the great institutions of the city and by attending the excursion on Thursday the people will be assisting this good work.

MANUFACTURERS MEET.

ARRANGING FOR A GREAT EXHIBIT AT THE FAIR.

Much Enthusiasm Shown and a Committee Appointed—A Number of Earnest and Eloquent Speeches Made.

The manufacturers of this city and county met last evening at the invitation of Frank W. Jennings, at the D. A. & M. society's office, No. 310 constitution building. Mr. Jennings presided, and Mr. Pyper, secretary of the society, acted as secretary.

Mr. Jennings stated that the object of the meeting was to have the manufacturers discuss the question of making a great exhibit at the October fair, and he hoped everybody would take part in the discussion and that arguments should be made for space and decorations that would be approved by all. He asked the gentlemen present to state their intentions regarding the fair.

B. F. Grant stated that the Grant Soap company proposed to make an exhibit of such a character that the museum people to believe that that company was the only company doing a big business in Utah territory. The company was at work now. It would not wait until October but proposed to go to a little along through the summer and by fair time have their exhibit complete. We must show the people what we can do. The industrial fair was a stepping stone to the great territorial fair. He praised the ladies of Salt Lake for their hard work and said they proposed to establish a Home Industry club in every ward in the city of Utah. It is rumored to be supported by the manufacturers in their work.

George E. Ford, for the Salt Lake Pressed Brick company, said his company would make an exhibit only to be limited by the space allotted to them.

Other manufacturers spoke with enthusiasm in the same strain and finally an motion of Mr. Ford a committee of five was appointed by the chair. Mr. Jennings to be chairman, to arrange for decorations and classification of exhibits and allotment of space. The chairman named George E. Ford, B. F. Grant, Jacob Moritz and George Romney, Jr.

At this juncture Mrs. Froiseth and Mrs. Dr. Ferguson entered the room, and Mr. Grant, in their behalf, stated that the ladies were getting up an excursion to Salt Lake, and its object was to help them in their campaign for home industry. He asked that the manufacturers offer some articles of merchandise to help them along. Inside of three minutes the following donations were made to the ladies' fund: Desert Woolen Mills, $25 in merchandise; John W. Snell, $15 in merchandise; Wasatch Mineral Water company, one case of mineral water.

Salt Lake Pressed Brick company, to be named hereafter. Salt Lake Lithograph company, book or album. Sears Glass and Paint company, show case. A. Amundsen, $5 in brooms. Salt Lake Wire Mattress company, $5 in wire mattresses. Thomas Slight, handkerchief boxes. James Anderson & Co., $5 order. Meier's Extract, one dozen Jamaica ginger, one-fourth dozen French hair restorers.

Jabez Taylor & Sons, one dozen washboards.

Mrs. Dr. Ferguson made a little talk acknowledging the assistance shown by the manufacturers and said the women were working for no personal gain, but for the good of the territory. The ladies hoped to see the day when a line-up of our railroads would have no effect upon our business by reason of the self-sustaining character of our enterprises. The ladies were about to organize branches of the Home Industry club in all the wards and everything that can be done will be done to bring about the desired results.

With a hearty round of applause the ladies withdrew and the meeting adjourned.
